The Galeon 500 Fly "Infinity" (2020) is a masterwork of engineering that redefined the mid-size yacht category with its legendary "Beach Mode." This yacht is a crowd favorite because it transforms from a sleek cruiser into a massive floating terrace at the touch of a button; the port and starboard bulwarks fold down to create side balconies that expand the beam to nearly 20 feet. The layout highlights include a rotating aft settee that can face forward for cruising or aft toward the sea, and a "walk-through" galley that serves as a central hub for entertaining. Inside, the "Infinity" features a sophisticated three-cabin, two-head arrangement, offering a bright, modern sanctuary that feels significantly larger than its 53-foot total length.

Technically, the Galeon 53 specs are designed for both agility and offshore confidence. Powered by twin Volvo Penta D11 engines, it delivers a punchy performance with a top speed of 30 knots and...
